LIFEFORCE FAMILY CHIROPRACTIC

Smoking Cessation program helps people quit smoking in three days

Are you a smoker?
Will you be alive to see your children get married?
Will you see your grandchildren grow up?
Currently, 5.4 million deaths occur every year from smoking.
It is estimated by the World Health Organization that that number will climb to 8 million deaths by the year 2030.

Do you want to quit?
LifeForce Family Chiropractic can help!
LifeForce Family Chiropractic uses the leading sciences in brain function and brain chemistry to change the flow of brain chemicals within the brain and central nervous system. Within three days of neurologically changing the brain with auriculo-therapy and specific low-force neurological chiropractic adjustments, your addiction and cravings for nicotine are gone!

The current success rate of facilities using this protocol for smoking cessation is very high within three days, if the person follows the protocol and wants to quit.

The smoking cessations program uses a three-step process to help smokers quit. The program is offered Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays. Each step takes between 30 minutes and an hour, and needs to be done three days in succession.

Torque Release Technique
The first step is applying the Torque Release Technique. LifeForce Family Chiropractic is one of the few doctor's offices in the state implementing the powerful neurological-based method used to help people overcome addiction, depression, anxiety, infertility in women and improve their well-being and performance of their body. The gentle, low-force technique combines the best of time-proven and cutting-edge scientific principles. Its success has been documented in mainstream peer-reviewed Medical journals and multiple Chiropractic journals, as well as featured in a documentary on the Discovery Channel.

Auriculo-therapy
The second step in the smoking-cessations program is auriculo-therapy, which is a neurologically-based treatment that accesses the brain through the ear. The human body manufactures endorphins and enkaphalins, two proteins that consist of natural opiates, which help create a sense of well-being. A person suffering from addiction cannot manufacture the opiates, so they use artificial ways to create the sense of well-being. Auriculo-therapy helps the body release the proteins the body needs to establish well-being, reduce the appetite for artificial stimulants and decrease withdrawal symptoms.

A micro-current stimulation device is placed on the outside of the ear. The device then delivers an electrical micro-current into the ear and releases a cascade of neurotransmitters changing the message of the brain and the function of the addiction. Most people only feel a tiny tingling at the ear reflex points during treatment. Auriculo-therapy has been proven to help people who are willing to quit smoking by itself, but along with the Torque Release Technique and Amino-Acid Therapy there is higher success rate for overcoming addictions.

Amino Acid Therapy
The third step in the process is Amino-Acid Therapy, which supports the proper release of neurotransmitters from the brain into the body. The therapy consists of a combination of amino acids, vitamins and minerals that have been found to be effective in the treatment of addiction when working together. The therapy increases the levels of chemicals in the brain and nervous system necessary to make specific neurotransmitters that create a feeling of calmness and wellbeing to the brain.

A successful treatment
Dr. Lofton of LifeForce Family Chiropractic notes that the practice has had an extremely high rate of success using the techniques to treat patients with numerous conditions and ailments. Many patients have been able to stop taking medications due to a better functioning body and nerve system. While traditional treatment programs have an average success rate of 30 percent of patients who complete their treatment, one study has shown a 100 percent retention rate for addicts receiving Torque Release Technique five times a week for four weeks.

LifeForce Family Chiropractic is a faith-based practice working to improve the quality of people's lives spiritually through the word of God and physically through the power of alternative methods.
